- Wed 09th March, 9am Year 5 Assembly

The highlights of this week have most definitely been our Year 6 trip to the Houses of Parliament, along with the fantastic learning in all classes based around Shakespeare’s play Much Ado about Nothing. Miss O’Kelly led a hands-on assembly at the start of the week to mark National Story Telling Week; this inspired the children to participate in all their activities, which have included performance poetry, producing play scripts and refining acting skills. The children have all been busy analysing the language Shakespeare used to create his famous plays. Take a look at the twitter feed if you wish to see some of the video clips they have made.

Yesterday, Year 5 enjoyed a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths) project day under the expert guidance of Miss Alder and Mrs Batchelor. The children have produced some amazing battery-powered trains. They worked collaboratively to solve problems, persisted to find solutions to complex issues, and as a result, their end products I am sure will be incredible. I know this experience will be a feature of their assembly in a few weeks time.

Year 6’s Hugo Cabaret Journals

Last week, Year 6 made small reading journals based on their current class book of Hugo Cabaret. It is about a young boy living in a train station. The class made small books using paper and sugar paper, and then decorated the front cover. Soon, the covers of these jolly journals were packed with printed pictures, and superb sketches. Later, Year 6 filled the pages of the book with descriptive vocabulary and figurative language based on the contents of the book. The class have not finished the whole book yet, but they have been working very hard to create these fabulous journals.

Reading Ambassadors Invent a New Initiative

Last week, Miss O’Kelly hosted a meeting with Clapham’s Reading Ambassadors. During the session, the Ambassadors collaboratively came up with some ideas. One of these ideas was as a book swap, utilising some of the books we no longer use in school. This initiative will begin in a few weeks, every day on the playground under the shelter. The swaps will be to clear space in our school library and to share well-loved books with as many children as possible. We will learn more about it in assembly next week. By Laura, CTCN Reporter

STILL WANTED

Early Years are still on the hunt for some good quality ‘cause and effect’ toys e.g. hammer shapes through holes, pop-up toys etc. and a multi-story garage. Any donations gratefully received!

Dramatic Dancing with Year 5 and 6!

On Tuesday morning, at 8:00am in the main hall, children from Year 5 and 6 take part in a dancing club with Miss Alder. Once we arrive, we do stretches and a technical warm up, which includes pirouettes, leaps and kicks to work on our flexibility. After we have done our stretches and warm up, we learn a commercial street dance, choreographed to upbeat, modern pop songs. It is a great new club and it sets us all up well for the day. There are still spaces for Year 5 and 6 children to join if they’d like to.

Move It!

The Sports Leaders and Marathon Champions have been brilliant this week, working together to supervise different games. Crown Jewels, and Grab the Tail are proving to be the most popular. There have been so many reward cards given out!

The prizes have arrived, so these cards can now be exchanged for a range of exciting prizes. This week, the two Sports Leaders of the Week are Aiden and Saihaj; they will receive their awards in assembly. Congratulations!

PE Kits

Year 4 children are modelling the Clapham Terrace PE Kit.

The indoor kit consists of dark blue shorts, a white polo shirt and pumps or trainers.

With many year groups doing gymnastics and dance at the moment, this kit should be in school all week. The outdoor kit consists of joggers and a long sleeved jumper/sweat shirt to keep warm.

Children will receive a dojo for every PE lesson where the correct kit is being worn. Remember, dojos help towards our house point totals at the end of the week, another fantastic way to help your house win the trophy!

Please speak to Mr. Mason or to your class teacher if you have any difficulty with kits.

Many thanks, Mr. Mason
